DETAILED ACTION

The Office action is in response to the applicant's amendment filed on 2/22/04.

Claim Objections

Claim 23 is objected to because of the following informalities: the applicant is advised to remove "t" on line 4. Appropriate correction is required.

Claims 1, 6, 8, 11-14, 17-18, 20-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Matich (US 2,708,543).

Matich teaches a rubber grip roof ladder comprising a length of a connecting material 12 is non-skid rubber (col. 1, line 24), a plurality of steps 26 attached to the connecting material 12, the steps 26 being spaced apart and parallel by a distance sufficient to allow an adult to kneel between neighboring steps 26; the step comprises a toehold portion T (see attached drawing fig. 1) and a base portion 32, 34 attached to the connecting material 12, the toehold portion T defined by an upper generally planar support surface U for engaging a portion of a user's foot, an opposing lower surface L, and an edge surface 28 extending there between wherein the upper generally planar support surface U is disposed substantially perpendicular to the base portion 32, 34, a depression 54 serves as a handle having hollow opening 54, a keyhole 62, a lifeline 80 (figs. 1-7).

Claims 2-5, 7, 10, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matich '543.

Matich teaches a rubber grip roof ladder comprising a length of a connecting material 12 is non-skid rubber (col. 1, line 24), a plurality of steps 26 attached to the connecting material 12, the steps 26 being spaced apart and parallel by a distance sufficient to allow an adult to kneel between neighboring steps 26; the step comprises a toehold portion T (see attached drawing fig. 1) and a base portion 32, 34 attached to the connecting material 12, the toehold portion T defined by an upper generally planar support surface U for engaging a portion of a user's foot, an opposing lower surface L, and an edge surface 28 extending there between wherein the upper generally planar support surface U is disposed substantially perpendicular to the base portion 32, 34, a depression 54 serves as a handle having hollow opening 54, a keyhole 62, a lifeline 80 (figs. 1-7). Matich does not teach expressly the steps are spaced apart by approximately 20-36", the connecting material is approximately 10-36" wide, and is nylon 6000 pound seat belt webbing, and nylon 900-1,000 denier. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select the specific dimension for the steps, the connecting material, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material and cutting down to the desirable dimensions on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9 and 15 were previously objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/22/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The examiner does not agree with the applicant's argument that Match's disclosure cannot be considered either an upper surface or a support surface when the Match's ladder being connected to a roof because: 1) The surface labeled by U is corresponding to the applicant's upper planar surface 131a serves as a foot engaging support. 2) And the applicant's argument with regards to the Match's ladder system does not provide toeholds that are spaced sufficiently far enough apart to allow a worker to kneel between successive or neighboring, toeholds would have been considered as an obvious matter of design choice base on desired use and the claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
